Our | Möllendorf as Acting Consul for Germany at this correspondent, according to O Macaema, must have been mistaken with regard to WE regret to observe in latest home papers an the details of the first named accident. is if O Macainse is worthy of credence, which we gravely doubt. Our contemporary states that an accident did happen at the silk factory, injuring several persons, but says it was caused by the roof falling in, and not by the explosion of a boiler. We are further assured that the student died of consumption and not from falling were present at the preliminary performance on from the tower. So far O Macaense has decidedly the best of us in the affair. Our contemporary then mournfully expresses its opinion that we cannot care much for | pay a visit to the Artillery Barracks, this evening. the welfare of Macao, as we have compared the Holy City to Sodom, and described her military system -- that burlesque on the pride, pomp, and circumstance of war-as a harlequinade. As O Macaense is such a stickler for correctness of detail, we may point out that we never compared: Macao to Sodom. Ancient Gomorrah was the place that we imagined must have in village of Fastova was on fire, and at cleven many respects resembled the "refuge of o'clock the same night thirty houses had sucthe destitute" forty miles away; however, | cumbed to the flames. At Tomsk on the previous Sodom will do very well for our purpose. Sunday, fifty-seven houses were burned, together The sage who tackled us in O Macaense will no doubt remember reading that when Sodom was threatened with destruction. the safety of the city was guaranteed if five righteous men could be found within its walls. The place was so steeped in wickedness and wretchedness that there were not five good men in the whole place, and in this respect—as in many others—the Sodom of the past resembles the Macao of the present. We are perfectly certain that fully gone through the population of the Portuguese settlement, and we have arrived at the conclusion that our view of the with all the European Powers. France and Engrighteousness of its inhabitants has not been under estimated. The glaring corruption, adoption of the initiative to the Western Powers; and disgraceful immoralities of the place honest men. With regard to the military harlequinade, we would remind our contemporary that at the recent census, the proportion of the soldiery that could read and write amounted to something under ten per cent., and that the folly of burdening and impoverishing a wretchedly poor Colony like Macao, with an ancient, cumbrous, useless, and expensive military government, has been the grievous outcry of the civil inhabitants, and well wishers of the city for years past. Physic may not be agreeable to the taste, but it is none the less an effective purifier to the system. These wholesome truths of ours about Macao are of course unpleasant to those who are fattening on the vices of the place: but they are generally recognised and appreciated by all who know anything of the matter; and nobody can doubt that they will in time make themselves felt. It is however plainly apparent that O Macaense is quite willing to allow matters to remain as they are. Patriotism is nowhere where filthy lucre and self interest are concerned amongst the noble and disinterested.

The steamship Canton will be docked this afternoon, probably at Kowloon.

THE agitation against capital punishment is hardly likely to be successful, observes the Overland Mail of May toth, so long as ruffians like Osmond Otto Brand, who has just been sentenced to death at Leeds, continue to infect the moral atmosphere of the world. THE Chinese cook on board the American brigantine R, F, Ctayton, was charged this morning before Captain Thomsett with assaulting William Clanfield, the carpenter, on board on the 18th instant.—The complainant deposed that he had. occasion to tell the cook to get another bucket instead of the one he was washing salad in, when the latter became insolent and tried to strike him with an iron shovel. He took the shovel away from him, when the cook bit him. When he did this the carpenter struck him. In answer to defendant, witness said he did not beat him (defendant first, nor did he kick him.—The captain of the R. F. Clayton corroborated the carpenter's statement, and said he heard him say, "See how nistrator of Mr. Robert Kennaway Leigh to be the cook has bitten me."-The defendant was sentenced to fourteen days' hard labour.

An émente occurred between a number of rattan scrapers and jinricksha coolies in Queen's Road East yesterday. It would appear that a fight having taken place between a 'ricksha coolie and some rattan scrapers in consequence of the ends of the rattans the latter were carrying striking the driver of the two-wheeler, the jinricksha coolies, taking their comrade's part, went in a body and attacked the rattan scrapers. Stones, bricks, poles and pieces of fire wood were thrown freely about. Chinese Police Constable 313, with the aid of some Portuguese, arrested four rattan scrapers and one 'ricksha coolie, who were brought up this morning before Mr. Wodehouse. The 'ricksha coolie said he had had nothing to do with the fight, and was beaten all over.-The Magistrate bound all the defendants over in $5 personal recognizance to be of good behaviour for a fortnight, by which time both sides will, no doubt, have cooled down and forgotten their little

Finding six of the dollars bad, he placed the remaining took the bad ones back to the shop to be exchanged. Upon returning, he found several men in his shop who were asking the price of tubs, and presently observed one of them, the prisoner, pull out his drawer, and coolly stow away the bagof Mexicans under his jacket. One of his men dispossessed the stone-cutter of the stolen dollars, and he then gave the prisoner in charge to a constable.—Inspector Rivers said it was becoming a practice for five or six linen to go into a shop and some of them call the shopman's attention while one or more filched what they could lay their hands upon .- Captain Thomsett committed the prisoner for trial at the Supreme Court. --

With reference to the "No rent" agitators in the Isle of Skye, Scotland, we note from the London Daily News that the five crofters were tried at the Castle, Inverness on the 11th ult., for assault only, the charge of deforcing the sheriff's officer being abandoned. All the prisoners were found guilty, and were fined in amounts varying from fifty to twenty shillings. A cheque was handed in by a sympathiser of the prisoners, but it was paid in under protest, so as to keep the case open for an appeal, should such a course be deemed expedient. Another telegram states that fifteen tenants belonging to a township in Skye have agreed to vacate their crosts by arrangement with the proprietor, Major Frager, who is offered 50% increased rental. Only one tenant remains, the others propose emigrating to Canada. The land agitation has spread to Caithness-shire. A meeting of Clyth tenantry has been held, and the "No rent" doctrine

COOLIE was charged this morning before-Captain Thomsett with stealing from the person of Samsoo Deen, a broker, three ten-rupee notes on the 28th March last. It appears the complainant had received the notes from a money changer's stall in the Central Market. He put them in his breast pocket, and while walking along Queen's Road, he observed defendant walking close by his side. The coolie suddenly. thrust his hand into his (Samsoo's) pocket, pulled out the notes, and ran off. He called out "Thief," but the man escaped: He made a report at the Central Station, and upon going there yesterday on being sent for, he saw the prisoner, whom he identified as the purloiner of his rupec notes.—Detective Sergeant Quincey said that, upon information received, he arrested the prisoner, whom he found in East street. According to the Madrid correspondent of the libelled by the accusation of having assaulted Daily News, who wires on May 12th, no intelligence in the Foreign Office, Madrid, confirms the news of the reported outrage on the British Minister in the streets of Tangiers. Moreover, at the end of April the British, French, Italian, and Spanish Ministers left for the interior of Morocco on an official visit to the Sultan in his capital. Sir John Hay often visits the Moorish Prince, more often than any other representative, and his personal influence in Morocco has been for years the object of the greatest jealousy to Italian and Spanish diplomacy, which showed their animus at the Madrid Conference in 1880. The main object of the present visit of Sir John Hay is to plead in favour of the Hebrews, who are still badly treated in Morocco. The Spanish papers express alarm at the rumoured establishment of a British factory and fisheries south of the river Dranh, in territory where the Sultan of Morocco has not a shadow of right. The real cause of the rivalry is that four-fifths of the trade of Morocco is in British hands.

THE Bandmann-Beaudet Combination adver-

An intelligent critical notice of such a performance is quite out of the question. Miss Beaudet as Beatrice and Miss Fergusson as Hero were favourably received by the audience, but the efforts of the other performers were generally greeted with derisive laughter. Herr Bandmann, if he had looked younger and more graceful, and had not been dressed in his Jago costume, and had moreover been better acquainted with the text, might have made a fairly good Benedick. As however the "young lord of Padua" had, to put it mildly, a paunch, was got up like Othello's ancient, and scarcely knew two consecutive lines of the part he was not a distinguished success. His Dogberry was even worse than his Benedick. When Herr Bandmann delivered the lines "O that he were here to write me down, an ass.' but, mas ters, remember that I am an ass; though it be not written down, yet forget not that I am an ass" the audience literally screamed with laughter, an honor which the "tragedian" apparently did not appreciate. With reminiscences of Phelp's Dogberry in our mind, it was hardly likely we should appreciate the sledge hammer humour of Mr. Bandmann. As the character of Don Pedro was cut down to the dimensions of a super, Mr. D'Orsay Ogden had no opportunity of scoring, and the other gentlemen were merely foils to the "star." We were glad to see such a satisfactory attendance.

SUPREME COURT.

THE "TELEGRAPH" LIBEL CASE. In the libel case in which Daniel Edward Bandmann, the well known tragedian, is prosecutor, and Robert Fraser-Smith, editor and proprictor of the Hongkong Telegraph defendant, Mr. E. MacKean, instructed by Messrs. Brereton and Wotton, on behalf of Mr. Bandmann applied this morning to the Chief Justice, the Hon. G. Phillippo, that a day be fixed for the trial of this case. Mr. Mackean said he had a special application to make in the case against Mr. Fraser-Smith. ask his lordship to do, what he was fully entitled to do, namely, to adjourn the case to a day, sufficient to enable the usual five days' notice to be given. The following affidavit had been sworn to by Mr. Bandmann, which he would now read:---

In the Supreme Court of Hongkong Criminal Jurisdiction.

REGINA V. ROBERT FPASER-SMITH. Daniel Edward Bandmann, at present o Victoria, in the Colony of Hongkong, make oath and say as follows :-

5 .- That in the Hongkong Telegraph of the 14th June instant there appeared a paragraph charging me with having committed an assault upon Mrs. Rousby lately an actress of the English stage and also with being a confirmed woman beater, the said paragraph in this and other respects is a libel and calculated to do great damage to my professional reputation. 5.—That on or about the 15th day of April last

Sworn at the Supreme Court House, Victoria, Hongkong, this 17th day of June, 1882.

Registrar,

EDWARD J. ACKROYD.

Mr. MacKean continuing his remarks, observed that under the peculiar circumstances of the case. Mr. Bandmann having, as he says, been grossly

Mrs. Rousby, and by being termed a confirmed woman-beater, and being thereby compelled to take an action against the defendant, any delay would be very injurious to him, hesides protecting what, from Mr. Bandmann's point of view, ought to be put a stop to, advantage having been taken of his passing through here to libel and do him professional injury, and he would therefore ask his lordship to fix a day, an early day, for the hearing of the case allowing sufficient time for the necessary notice being given to the defendant.-Mr. Fraser-Smith asked his Lordship to postpone the further hearing of the present motion until Wedof the affidavit until late on Saturday night. He would be able to prove by witnesses that the statements in Mr. Bandmann's affidavit were in the main false.-Mr. McKean requested his Lordship not to postpone the hearing of the motion, notwithstanding what Mr. Fraser-Smith had said, as it would delay the case very considerably.—Mr. Fraser-Smith submitted that as he only received the affidavit late on Saturday night, he had not sufficient time to go into the matter.-Mr. McKean persisted in asking his Lordship to appoint a day for the hearing of the case, then if the defendant failed to prove that the affidavit was in the main false, his Lordship's order would stand.-Mr. Fraser-Smith asked his Lordship to refuse Mr. McKean's application until the other matter had been settled. The Chief Justice said he thought

Mr. Fraser-Smith was entitled to what he asked; and said he would adjourn the hearing of the application until Wednesday morning at ten o'clock. His Lordship told Mr. Fraser-Smith that he could meanwhile file affidavits and send copies to the other side. Mr. Bandmann was present in Court.

THE OFFICERS OF THE BUFFS AT THE GARRISON THEATRE.

A theatrical performance by the Officers of the

Buffs was given in the Garrison Theatre on Saturday night, to a crowded house, composed chiefly of the soldiers of the garrison. As this performance was merely a sort of semi-private dress rehearsal of the public entertainment advertised for this evening, we are not quite certain that we are justified in criticising the enterprising amateurs; however, as we were specially invited to attend, and actually found much to praise and but little to find fault with, we may perhaps be excused for briefly reviewing the dramatic efforts of our military friends. After a capital overture, played in first rate style by the excellent band of the Buffs, the curtain rose on the Pantopolo Anaxandrian and for half an hour the audience were convulsed with laughter at the amusing vagaries of Lieutenants Holme and Somerset, in the comic sketch "Catching a Mermaid." The former gentleman as an itinerant showman, and the latter as his clown were truly funny, and although the sketch is a piece of ridiculous fooling it certainly served the purpose of causing a vast deal of amusement. It was, however, in the well known and popular farce "Little Toddlekins," so closely identified with the name of the late Charles Mathews, that the officers of the Buffs showed their true mettle. Mr. Holme is a capital actor, possessing unlimited confidence, and a quiet fund of humour. As Jones Robinson Brownsmith the success of the piece rested almost entirely on his shoulders, and it is no mean compliment to say that he came out of a trying ordeal triumphantly. Of course we are criticising amateurs, and from an amateur stand point. Mr. Holme is doubtless rather stiff and awkward, faults which were more discernible on Saturday on the very small stage of the Garrison Theatre, than would be the case on such a stage as that of the City Hall. As Barnaby Babbicombe Mr. Somerset showed a just appreciation of the para and displayed character acting abilities quite up to the average standard of aspiring amateurs. Captain Howarth was quite at home as Captain Littlepop, and Lieutenant Jarrett made a slashing Amanthis. The characters of Annie Babbicombe and Susan were adequately filled by Mesdames Backhouse and Pears, both these ladies materially assisting in rendering the representation a great success. We shall await with interest the appearance of the Buffs in a piece where they will have an opportunity of doing themselves justice. We feel convinced from our experiences of Saturday that they can bring together a very good team of amateur histrions.

ALLEGED ROBBERY AT THE

TEMPERANCE HALL. A robbery of a rather mysterious character is reported to have taken place at the Temperance Hall on Saturday night. A Mr. Gaine, lately employed as a chief officer, who has been staying at the Hall about a fortnight, went out about seven o'clock on Saturday evening, his box, he states, being then all right in his room, and locked. It is the custom at the Hall for the servants to take coffee round to the boarders at six o'clock in the morning, and about that hour yesterday the boy who took the refreshing beverage to Mr. Gaine's room, went to Mr. Stringer, the Manager, and informed him that Mr. Gaine's box was broken open, the contents being strewn about the room. The Manager at once proceeded to the room, which was open, the key being in the lock on the inside. and found things as described by the boy. contents of the box were lying about the room most of Mr. Gaine's papers being on his bed Upon examination, it was found that the lid had been wrenched off the box at the back, the lock, however, being intact and in working order, and, what seems a very curious circumstance, no marks of prising were apparent on the box, the lid, judging from the direction in which the hinges were broken, presenting the appearance as if the box were first opened, and the lid then thrown violently back, breaking the hinges. Mr. Gaine, who had not slept in the Hall on Saturday night, returning yesterday morning about eight o'clock, the Manager informed him of what had occurred, and asked him if there had been any money in the box. Mr. Gaine said that he lest $274 in notes in it when he went out on Saturday evening. This money, assuming it to have been there, has disappeared. Nothing else, we believe was missed. Mr. Gaine's room is the centre one of a row of three, all occupied, and so constructed that any being paid range from $30 to $35 a month, and in the other. Opposite these rooms, only about five feet apart, are three other similar rooms, also occupied by boarders, and in which any noise in Mr. Gaine's room could also be heard. We learn that it is believed the group of rooms in question had one or more boarders in them all the time between 7 and 11 p.m. on Saturday, during which period the alleged robbery is supposed to have been committed, and it seems strange, on the theory that the Chinese servants of the Hall were concerned nesday morning, as he did not receive a copy in the affair, that no unusual noise was heard, as the lid of the box, a medium sized camphor-wood one, could scarcely have been wrenched off without attracting the attention of anyone in the adjoining rooms. The Hall is closed at eleven o'clock, when the boarders retire to rest. It is thought an attempt would not have been made on the box after that hour, when all the surrounding rooms in close proximity were occupied. We hear that Mr. Gaine says he did not lock the door of the room before going out on Saturday evening, and left the key in the lock on the outside. The Manager, however, as already stated, found the key on the inside. It is to be regretted that Mr. Gaine should have been so imprudent as to leave so large a sum of money as he says he did in a box in a room which he did not intend to occupy for 13 hours, not even adopting the precaution of locking the door. Had he placed any money he had in the hands of the Manager, who keeps a safe in the Hall, it would have been quite secure. We hear that he represents himself as penniless in consequence of the alleged loss. The Manager reported the matter at the Central Station yesterday morning, and it is now for the zealous guardians of the law in the Colony to unravel what would seem to be a very curious case and surrounded by considerable mystery. Detective Sergeant Quincey and detective Inspector Perry, together with Inspector Lindsay, have been investigating the matter, but, so far, without any satisfactory result. They have, of course, formed opinions of their own on the subject, but these are not for the general public. 'Mr. Gaine, unfortunately, does not know the number of any of the notes he says he lost, nor the Banks that issued them. They were composed, he states, of four $50, one $25, the remainder being notes of other denominations. This, we understand, is not the first time Mr. Gaine has reported himself to have been robbed in the Colony. Yesterday morning between eight and nine o'clock, while the European steward was at Church, an attempt was made to force open the lock of the till, on the ground floor of the Hall in which the money received for aerated waters, &c. is kept. We have examined the till, and the marks of a chisel, or other instrument, are plainly visible around the lock. The would-be till breaker was doubtless disturbed in his operations. When the steward returned from Church, he found the key would not work in the lock of the till, and it was this that drew his attention to the attempted theft. He had to send for a Chinese lock-smith to open the till and put the lock in order. Evidently some one connected with the Temperance Haller . is on the "annexing" war-path, and we hope, for the credit of a respectable and useful establishment, that the whole of the mystery surrounding the alleged robbery from Mr. Gaine will be unusual noise in the one could be distinctly heard

COMPLAINTS OF ILL TREATMENT BY THE CREW OF THE STEAM-SHIP "ARABIC."

As the public will remember, says the San Francisco Call, the steamer Arabic arrived here on Sunday, May 7th, having on board 1,184 Chinamen. No signs of small-pox were discovered, and the vessel was allowed to dock at the wharf of the Pacific Mail Company on the following day. Everything was then supposed to be in a satisfactory condition, but during the last few days rumors have been floating about the city front that there was great trouble on board between the officers and crew. They were many and conflicting, some justifying the officers, and others going to show that the crew had been unjustly treated, and that the provisions of the articles under which they shipped had been violated. A Call reporter, after considerable difficulty, found a number of the crew, late last Saturday night, in one of the numerous saloons along the front. One of the stewards was also present, and from him the following narration of their alleged wrongs was obtained. The steamer is owned by the White Star Line, of Liverpool, and was chartered by the Occidental and Oriental Steamship Company to carry Chinamen from Hongkong to San Francisco. The crew, numbering forty-two, including the mate, carpenter, boatswain, two cooks, four stewards, three engineers and ten firemen, were engaged by the owners. Under the articles of agreement. which the reporter carefully examined, the men contracted to serve in their several capacities on a voyage from Liverpool to Hongkong, via Suez. and thence to San Francisco, via Japan and any ports and places in the China, Eastern, Arabian, Red, Mediterranean and Black Seas, Indian or Pacific Oceans, California, British America, Australia, New Zealand, South America, United States, Continent of Europe, and back to a final port of discharge in the United Kingdom. The term of service was not to exceed two years, to use the exact language of the articles, but the sailors claim that they were verbally assured at the time when they placed their signatures to the same, that they could serve the entire term if they were so disposed. The steward then went on to say that the crew were not aware that they were working for the Occidental and Oriental Steamship Company until after they left Liverpool. It was then too late to back out, even if they so desired, and the vessel finally arrived at Hongkong. There, as the sailors claim, the agent of the charterers discovered that he could reduce the expenses of the ship by hiring a Chinese crew. If their story be true, he offered them $25 bonus to leave the vessel and reship on some other ship bound to Liverpool. This they refused to do, as the steamer was a new one, their quarters comfortable, and the pay good. The men were also strangers in Hongkong, and did not wish to remain there any length of time waiting for a return vessel. No such offer, however, was made to the officers, as the charterers could not very well dispense with their services, the Chinamen, in spite of their acuteness, not understanding the art of navigation. After taking onboard the consignment of coolies, they steamed for San Francisco, and here the only real different culty was experienced. According to the terms of the articles, it was provided that after the arrival of the vessel at this city, the current wages of the port were to be paid. The wages now

They were also furnished mealtickets at a certain restaurant along the wharves, where the food was not fit to eat, and most of them were in the habit of going to other places and paying for their meals out of their own pockets. They also complain that when they arrived here they were removed from their cosy quarters in the foregastle and placed in the forward hold, which was occupied during the voyage by the Chinese, and which was full of dirt and vermin. The forecastle itself, the 215t. steward says, was built in Liverpool by the orders of the Mercantile Board of Trade, to furnish sleeping accommodation for twenty-four menfifteen on one side and nine on the other. These bunks, it is alleged, the Superintendent of the-Company on Wednesday last ordered to be broken up, and since then twenty additional berths have been built. These are supposed to be for the accommodation of a Chinese erew. In addition to this, the sailors, who are evidently very fond of the intoxicating fluid, seem to think that they were so speedily paid off after their arrival, in order that they might come ashore, get intoxicated, and become incapacitated for work. They were paid two months' wages on the 7th instant, and as a natural result a great majority of them have been intoxicated ever since. They acknowledge that this was their own fault, but state in extenuation that the officers of the vessel told them that they were at liberty to go ashore whenever they so desired, as their services were no longer required. They also refused to ship them back to England according to the term of the agreement, but offered to give them $10 bonus to leave the vessel and take their chances of getting

A sailor named Thomas Reynolds stated that there was no doubt but that the officers of the vessels were doing all in their power to make them leave, in compliance with the orders of the charterers. In support of this statement, he said that a boarding-house master has told him that Mr. Bryan, the Superintendent, had offered him a gratuity, for every seaman he could permanently remove from the vessel.

The statements of the officers of the vessel and the Company's Superintendent, however, contradict, in every particular, the stories of the sailors, and seem to be far more worthy of belief. The officers describe them as a drunken, worthless sort of fellows, who are not inclined to work, and impudent in the extreme. Mr. Sampson, the second officer, acknowledged that they were anxious to get rid of them, but insisted that they were perfectly justified in so doing. They were no use in the world, and even when they condescended to work, did it in such a slovenly manner that they were obliged to compel them to go over it two or three times more. They had been trying to get rid of them ever since the vessel left Liverpool, and he thought that they had at · last succeeded. · A number of them had shipped on out-going vessels, and the few remaining would doubtless leave in a few days.

Mr. Bryan, the Superintendent of the Company, corroborates these statements in every particular, and says that the company are perfectly right in trying to get rid of the crew. He also states that when the vessel arrived at Hongkong the men themselves made the proposition to the were paid a bonus of $50 they would leave of their own accord. This proposal was refused, and the sailors then determined to come to San Francisco. The bonus of $10, which seven of them have received in this port, according to his statements, was not offered by the Company, but the seamen themselves made the overtures and agreed to take it. As far as the question of the Company's being obliged to retain the men on board for two years, was concerned, that was all nonsense. The articles of agreement stated that they were to serve for a term not to exceed that time, and it was in the power of the Company to discharge or not. Neither were the men injured in the least, as six of them had already shipped on the Mariposa and received a $250 check, payable when they arrived at Liverpool. This, he said, was beyond doubt, as several of them had exhibited it to different parties along the water front.
